At the Crossroads of Prevention & Treatment...Understanding the Impact of Research and Community in Washington, DC

DC Host Committee Pre-Conference

Wednesday, September 9, 2015

8am Welcome and Breakfast
9am Research forum

Presented by HIV Prevention Trials Network Black Caucus

2:15pm Translating Community Impact

Presented by the DC Center for AIDS Research

Reception immediately following

Health disparities continue to burden communities of color in the US despite scientific and political advancements. The current healthcare delivery system has been slow to respond to the scientific advances as is evidenced by the increases in new infections about some minority populations. This is due to the need for strategic partnerships and community collaborations to develop an up-to-date response to the ever changing landscape. Our Wednesday pre-conference will discuss the intersection of research, evidence-informed practice, policy and local responses to ending the epidemic among those most at risk.

Please register here: https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/5HT62DG for additional information please visit http://uscahostcommittee.com/

Lunch and Reception sponsored by Abbott